

Cataloging Your Inner Rules

We all have rules that guide our behavior on a daily basis. We might not be able to clearly articulate all of them, but they hang around in our subconscious and nudge us towards behavior that is consistent with them. Many of these rules might be good (e.g., "Good people don't badmouth others behind their back") but some of them might not be adaptive or helpful (e.g., "If you make one mistake, you are a bad person"). Use this worksheet to help you identify a questionable or harmful rule you have and challenge it.

The Infraction
The Rule
Origins
Where did it come from? What makes you think the rule is right, or a good rule?
Advantages of Keeping This Rule	Disadvantages of Keeping This Rule
Rewards
What is the best possible version of this rule?	